

Vaumarcus, Schweiz

6th International Orchestra-Camp August 2 – 13, 2010

Director	Felix Reolon, conductor
----------	-------------------------

Information	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The international artesono orchestra-camp provides opportunities for significant growth for the advanced performer as well as the less experienced. Students perform solo and ensemble works. On the concert stage, students can showcase their talents The young musicians may join chamber music groups. These groups offer another dimension of musical learning and experience. The international artesono orchestra-camp is open to students with a good range of musical ability on their instrument as well as to the advanced singer. In addition, the international artesono orchestra-camp also offers a variety of workshops that are all linked to music (see special program).
-------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Program	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Beethoven, Tschaiakowsky, Liadow, Dvorak, Grieg und others. Brassband and wind ensemble, chamber music and orchestra music. For pianists: 2 movements from a concert for piano and orchestra.
---------	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Special program	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Music workshops: appearance and performance on stage, stage anxiety, efficient repetition, music history, dancing class, excursions, swimming in the lake, basketball, football, volleyball, hiking. All sport activities are accompanied by professional sport teachers
-----------------	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Fees	CHF 850.00 (approx. EUR 531.00). The invoice is in CHF. 10% reduction for every additional child of the same family. CHF 50 reduction for inscription before January 31, 2010. No additional fees. The inscription is valid after reception of the confirmation and invoice. The camp fee (invoice) is due May 30, 2010
------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Instruments	All orchestra instruments: strings, winds, brass, harp, piano, percussion
Age	10 - 19 years
Level	Intermediate and advanced players (at least 3 years of experience)
Place	Le Camp de Vaumarcus, CH-2028 Vaumarcus, Switzerland www.lecamp.ch
Concerts	3 to 4 concerts in the region Yverdon/Neuchâtel, Switzerland
Languages	French, Italian, English, German, Spanish
Selection	Fill in the inscription on www.artesono.ch . Send us a recording of your own choice (CD, DVD, email) as well as a short CV of your musical background.

Entry deadline	April 30, 2010
Registration and information	artesono visions in concert Gottfried Keller-Strasse 73 CH-8400 Winterthur www.artesono.ch

All professors are active in the professional European music and teaching community and enjoy an excellent reputation. Information about the professors is given upon request.